MORE GOOD TIMBER FOR OFFICE

Tinsley, Smith and Black Are Presented.

Something About Birth and Lives of Republican Nominees.

Our readers are given some interesting history of the Republican nominees for County Court Clerk, County Attorney and Sheriff, below:

Wilburn Sumner Tinsley, Republican nominee for County Court Clerk of Ohio county, was born August 28, 1869, about five miles northeast of Hartford, in what is known as the Washington or "Big Bend" neighborhood, being a son of Captain Woodbury Tinsley, who was for many years Postmaster of Hartford and well known all over Ohio county. Young Tinsley, like most of the Republican nominees, was born and raised on a farm and continued farming until about six years ago, when he embarked in the hardware business in Hartford. He acquired his education in the common schools of Ohio County and by hard study and faithful reading has added materially to his education and fund of information. He was nominated for County Court Clerk for Ohio county four years ago and elected by over 600 majority, and has made a faithful painstaking official, giving entire satisfaction to every person who has had business to conduct through this office. He was re-nominated last fall after a hard struggle over one of the most popular young men of Ohio county. He will be re-elected in November by a large majority and will continue to make the people an efficient County Court Clerk.

C. E. Smith, Republican nominee for County Attorney of Ohio county, was born in 1876 and reared on a farm near Ceralvo, in the Western part of the county, where he spent his early boyhood days and attended the public schools during the winter months applying himself as best he could with the facilities at hand to attain an education. At an early age he began teaching and taught a number of successful schools, in the meantime reading law in order to prepare himself for his chosen profession in life. He was admitted to the bar at Hartford, in March 1899, and moved to Hartford the following year to engage in practice. In July 1903, he became the editor of the Hartford Republican which position he filled in a highly creditable manner, resigning the same in the fall of last year, when he became an active candidate for the Republican nomination for County Attorney. The only office which Mr. Smith ever held was that of City Attorney for Hartford for two years, 1904 and 1905, under appointment by the City Council which position he filled in a highly creditable manner to all concerned.

Mr. Smith is a well trained lawyer and a man of splendid ability, young, vigorous, of good habits and good morals. He will make a splendid County Attorney and his election is beyond question, although he has been kept out of active campaigning for several weeks on account of serious illness of his wife.

Thomas H. Black, Republican nominee for Sheriff of Ohio County was born near Horton, Ky., Sept. 19, 1872 on a farm where he spent his boyhood days, until twenty years of age when he came to Hartford and went to work for Fields and Holbrook in the livery business. His father, John W. Black having been elected jailer of the county in 1894, and dying in office, young Black was appointed to fill out his unexpired term of six months, Sept. 9, 1897. He was nominated and elected for the full term and was re-elected in 1901, serving eight years and six months. During that time he made a most capable officer and has a record of having never had a prisoner escape from him during his entire service as jailer of Ohio county, a record which has never been attained by any other jailer of the county in all probability. After Mr. Black's term expired he went into the livery business with Mr. E. E. Birkhead and has since conducted the business under the firm of Black and Birkhead. Mr. Black has always taken a lively interest in politics and has been a faithful worker for his party. Although efficient in his services and steadfast in his principles he has never made himself obnoxious to men on the other side, and in consequence enjoys at the present time the confidence of the Democrats in large numbers and also the support of many in his race for Sheriff. Many persons believe that Mr. Black will receive the largest majority ever accorded a candidate on the Republican ticket for Sheriff in Ohio County.

A Surprise Birthday Dinner.

Mrs. Henrietta Nabors, Olaton, Ky., was given a surprise birthday dinner September 22 in honor of her 40th birthday. There were 56 friends and relatives present, and the afternoon was spent very pleasantly and all enjoyed themselves at the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nabors. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Payton, the photographers, were present and made groups of the family and visitors. The large dining room was tastefully arranged and the table was loaded with various fruits, cakes and dainty dishes. Mrs. Nabors was the recipient of many lovely birthday greeting card and presents. This was a grand reunion of old friends, and Mrs. Nabors enjoyed the surprise dinner most heartily, as she knew nothing of the dinner until most everyone had met at her home with well-filled baskets. Many of the visitors attended from a distance. We all hope to meet and spend another pleasant afternoon again.

RALPH.

Sept. 27.—The Rev. R. E. Fuqua began a series of meetings at Adaburg Baptist church Sunday night.

Mrs. Otha Farmer, who has been confined in the Hopkinsville Asylum is home with her family.

Mr. Devert Moseley is at home sick with fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell visited at Mr. Roe Bean's Sunday.

Several from here attended the farmers' meeting at Narrows.

Several candidates visited our 'berg this last week, meeting their friends.

Nearly every farmer is preparing for a large wheat crop.

Mr. "Bib" Taylor visited his little friend Oma Westfield, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Taylor were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronda Wade Saturday night and Sunday.

The next County Attorney C. E. Smith was in town Friday.

Most everybody attended the colt show at Magan given by C. E. Miller.

There was a fine lot of colts on exhibition, being the best ever shown in this section of the county.

Ronda Wade ran a wagon loaded with lumber over his pet dog and instantly killed him. He feels he sustained a great loss.

GIANT DEMOCRATS TO DEBATE TARIFF

Bryan and Bailey To Come At Each Other in Warm Argument.

Atlanta, G. A., Sept. 28.—A joint debate on the tariff by William Jennings Bryan and Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, at Atlanta, is assured, the meeting to be held some time next month in the New Auditorium here.

To-day Senator Bailey wired his acceptance of the formal invitation extended by the Young Men's Democratic League of Atlanta for a joint debate between himself and Mr. Bryan.

While no reply to the invitation has been received from Mr. Bryan, advice to The Constitution from Fort Worth, Tex., are to the effect that Mr. Bailey wired Mr. Bryan of his acceptance of the invitation.

Mr. Bryan will arrive at his home, Lincoln, Neb., tomorrow and is expected to formally accept the invitation and suggest a suitable date.

When Mr. Bryan spoke in El Paso, Tex., last week, an effort was made to arrange a joint debate between himself and Senator Bailey.

At that time he stated that he would not consider the matter unless Mr. Bailey should make a personal request for such a meeting.

Now, that Senator Bailey has made the "personal request" it is believed that Mr. Bryan will be only too glad to meet Mr. Bailey.

The Democratic convention of Texas as opposed the plank in the National Democratic platform declaring for free raw material, and Senator Bailey attacked that feature of the party's platform on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. Bryan went to Texas about two weeks ago, and in a number of speeches, assailed the attitude of Mr. Bailey on this subject, the latter defending his position from platforms in various parts of the State.

Death of Mrs. Amanda Barnett.

Mrs. Amanda Barnett, widow of Robert E. Barnett, died at her home one and one-half miles north of Hartford, Tuesday evening about 9 o'clock. Mrs. Barnett had been ill for several weeks and her death had been expected a short time ago, but when the end came she had made good progress towards recovery and her death was sudden. She was in the 80th year of her age, having been born April 5th, 1830. She was the only child of Elijah Phipps. She was married to Robert E. Barnett, who died 35 years ago and to this union was born twelve children, of whom are living. Those who survive are: Mr. E. P. Barnett, Hartford; Dr. Nestor Barnett, Caneyville; Mr. J. B. Barnett, Los Angeles, Cal.; Rev. L. R. and Uzal Barnett, Arkansas; R. J. Barnett, Union City, Tenn.; Alex. V. G. and A. M. Barnett, Hartford; and Mrs. Aline Rogers, Illinois. The funeral services and burial took place at Alexander burying ground yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. R. D. Bennett, preaching the funeral sermon. A large number of friends and relatives attended the ceremonies. Mrs. Barnett was loved by all who knew her and on account of her great age and splendid fund of information concerning pioneers of this locality, she was idolized by all the relatives and neighbors, and will be greatly missed in the walks of life in her vicinity. Peace to her ashes.

IMPETUS GIVEN TOBACCO POOL

Great Burley Grower Joins in Good Work.

Addition of Turfman's Crop Will Have Widespread Influence.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 28.—The tobacco pool of the Burley Society received a new impetus to-day when it was announced that the 360 acres grown on Elmendorf, the farm of the millionaire turfman, James B. Haggin, had been put into the pool.

Reports from all the counties of the bluegrass received to-day indicate greatly improved conditions for the success of the movement.

Mason county has already pooled 85 per cent. of her crop, Harrison county more than 75 per cent., Nicholas 70 per cent., Bath 75 per cent., Clark more than 70 per cent., Montgomery nearly 80 per cent., Fleming almost the entire acreage, and the movement in Fayette is receiving better support than its promoters hoped for.

The pooling of the Haggin crop was arranged at conference held yesterday between Lister Witherspoon, of Woodford county, and Mr. C. H. Berryman, acting for Mr. Haggin.

The matter was presented by Mr. Witherspoon simply as a business proposition and after a brief discussion of the pooling contract Mr. Berryman signed it.

Mr. Witherspoon also announced to-day the signing of the big crop of Mr. Johnson N. Camden, Jr., whose production this year will probably exceed 180,000 pounds. After Mr. Haggin's crop of Mr. Camden is probably the largest in the Burley belt.

Because of the night riding last year, which was looked upon by many of the larger growers as an attempt at coercion, Mr. Haggin, with many other large producers, refused to enter the pool. The crop of that year was about one-tenth what it is this year.

Mr. Haggin has announced his sympathy with the pooling movement and will lend it his vigorous support.

After the announcement that Mr. Haggin had joined the pool was made it was given out that a great meeting would be held in Lexington Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at which Miss Alice Lloyd, Congressman A. O. Stanley, ex-Congressman W. P. Kimball, Joel B. Fort and President Clarence LeBus will address the growers on the merits of their plan to secure higher prices.

At this meeting the exact acreage of Fayette county in and out of the pool will be reported.

At the same time meetings will be held in every county in the Burley district and the growers, who have pooled their crops, will decide whether the pool shall be declared off or not. President LeBus' speech of Thursday will be his first appearance before a Fayette county audience.

Secretary J. D. Clark, of the Fayette County Board of Control, said to-day that more tobacco has already been pooled than in the years of 1906 and 1907 combined.

ARNOLD.

Health in this country is fairly good. Mr. R. A. Coy who has been sick for quite a while is slowly improving.

Mr. Mark Smith, who has lately moved from Indiana, is reported some better.

Mr. Lonnie Evans and Miss Florence Evans were married on the 23rd of September, Rev. S. T. Evans officiating.

Quite a number from this community attended the Butler County Fair.

Tobacco is nearly all cut and the farmers are busy making molasses.

Mr. Harvie Daugherty made a flying trip to Cromwell last Saturday.

Mr. R. R. Pharris of Narrows is visiting his parents, Rev. P. W. Pharris.

Several attended church at Mt. Liberty last Sunday.

Rev. M. J. Emory, of Baizetown, preached an interesting sermon Sunday.

RETURNED THE PRIZE

A Trophy That Did Not Remain Long in Captivity.

THE MISSING COAT OF ARMS.

It Belonged to the American Consulate in Honolulu and Was Carried Off by a Party of English Middles—The Restoration and Apology.

"Speaking of old times on the coast," said an Oregonian, "reminds me of some of the sterling characters we had there. One was Governor McBride of Oregon. His first official duties were at Honolulu, where he was United States minister. King Kamehameha was the ruler at the time. The minister was a heroic type of a man, the father of fourteen children, and a number of his sons became distinguished men in various professions. He was a true American, cast in an ultra patriotic mold, and many stories are told among the oldtimers of his patriotism and bravery.

"When McBride reached Honolulu he found there were no outward insignia designating the American consulate or minister's office, so he had a large American coat of arms cut out of wood, gilded and decorated appropriately, and this was hung over the office door that all the world might see it. It was naturally a conspicuous object and of much interest to the public.

"One day an English man-of-war came into port. The sailors and midshipmen were given liberty, and, as often happens, some of them had various times. Among the then midshipmen were Lord Gordon and Lord Beresford, who, like all midshipmen in from a long cruise, were out for a jolly time. Walking down the street, they did not fail to notice that Yankee coat of arms, and as Beresford was collecting bric-a-brac and curiosities it occurred to him and Gordon that this would be a fine addition to their collection, a trophy worth having. So they selected a time when the minister was away and the office closed, presumably at night, and took down the coat of arms, hired a native vehicle to carry it down to the dock and actually succeeded in getting it aboard without any of the ranking officers knowing anything about it.

"The next morning when the minister came down to the office his assistant said:

"Mr. Minister, your bird's taken flight."

"What do you mean?" asked his excellency.

"Your coat of arms is gone," replied the aid.

"Gone where? Flown off?"

"Not exactly," said the other. "It's just disappeared."

"The minister walked out into the street and looked up. The coat of arms, which was five or six feet across, was noticeable by its absence. It had taken wings and flown away. Exactly what the minister said has not been chronicled.

"It so happened that Beresford had given the carriage driver an extra fare for his trouble. Some one discovered this and quickly reported it to the minister, who at once made a demand upon the captain of the frigate for its return. The captain, who was innocent, denied that the thing was aboard ship. The minister sent his evidence to the captain, reiterating his demand and demanding an apology for the incident.

"The captain now began an investigation, and the culprits owned up and took the coat of arms on deck, when it was promptly sent ashore and returned to the office of the minister. McBride, who was there, refused to receive it.

"Tell the captain of your frigate that I desire that the men who took it down bring it back, place it where they found it and apologize."

"Back to the ship went the men with the coat of arms and reported. The captain ordered the young men to go ashore, take the coat of arms to the consulate, replace it as they found it and apologize to the minister.

"It was doubtless a bitter pill, and the young midshipmen had to stand the badinage of their comrades. The two went ashore, ready to comply, and took the coat of arms to the consulate. The American minister had not put himself out to keep the matter quiet, and as a fact the public was well posted, and the consulate was surrounded by a crowd of Americans, natives and others, all laughing at the predicament of the young midshipmen.

"The minister had a strong sense of humor and determined to get all there was in it. He preserved his dignity as best he could as he received the young men and listened to their apologies. The midshipmen then took the coat of arms from the back and amid the cheers of the crowd climbed to the front of the building and placed it in position, then hurried down, followed by laughter and cheers."—C. F. Holder in New York Evening Post.

Delight of Varied Labor.
None but the fully occupied can appreciate the delight of suspended or, rather, of varied labor. It is to that creates holidays. There is no royal road—yes, that is the royal road to them. THE INDIANS PAID.

What the White Men Charged Them For Killing One Donkey.

In "Reminiscences of Old Times in Tennessee" a story is told of the good faith and honor of a party of Chickasaw Indians. While hunting one fall they shot a donkey, mistaking the creature for a wild animal. They sold the hide, and it finally came to the hands of John Barnes in Lipton.

When the Chickasaws returned to the region of Lipton for their annual hunt the next fall Barnes invited them to a shooting match, the prize to be the skin of a very rare animal.

Thirty braves appeared at the contest, and one of them won the prize. When he saw the skin he turned it over and said: "Ha, ha! Me kill him! Me shoot him! See!" And he pointed to the fatal bullet hole.

Then Barnes told them that they had killed a donkey, a very useful animal, but he was sure that they had done it by mistake, believing it to be a wild animal.

The Indians listened attentively to the white man's words and then consulted together a few minutes. Finally they separated, each brave going to his pony, unhitching him and leading him to the spot where a gang of white men stood. Barnes in the midst of them. Then one of the Indians spoke:

"We sorry we kill donkey. We think he belong to the woods. We find him in case. We think him wild. We sorry. Now we pay. We take no white man's boss, pony, nothing of white man. We honest. We have ponies; that's all. Take pay." And he motioned to the long line of ponies, held by their owners.

"How many?" asked Barnes.

"White man say," returned the Indian, "take plenty."

The honor of the red men was not equalled by the white men, for, he recorded to their shame, they took from the Chickasaws thirty-five ponies to pay for the accidental killing of one donkey.

AN AFRICAN RAILWAY.

The Way It Was Described by an Educated Native.

C. J. Phillips, business agent in Uganda of the Church Missionary Society, throws light upon the workings of the native mind by quoting a remarkable letter in which a native member of the katikiro's (prime minister's) party gives a description of the Uganda railway.

"My friend, I can tell you the Europeans have done a marvelous thing to make the railway and the trains. They fasten ten or fifteen houses together and attach them to a fireplace which is as big as an elephant, and the road it goes on is as smooth as the stem of a plantain. It goes as fast as a swallow flying, and everything you see outside flits past you like a spark from a fire. If it were to drop off one of the bridges not one in it would be saved, for it goes dreadfully quick. The bills it passes are as high as those of Koki, and they have bridges over great valleys which are as deep as that you see when you look from the top of Nani rembo, so deep that you cannot see the bottom when you are going over them."

Later there follows a description of a ship: "It is as deep as our two storied house and as wide as the king's road in Mengo, and it is as long as from the katikiro's fence to the gate of the king's inclosure. It has three tall poles in it and a big throat, out of which smoke comes, which is as wide as the new drum in the church at Nani rembo. The rooms in it go down three stories, and the boards of these I cannot describe to you, for such have not been seen before. There is a lot of metal work about them, too, but these also I cannot describe, for it is so fine. There are children on board and a flock of sheep and places to wash in attached to every place where a chief sleeps, such as even our king has never possessed."—London Strand Magazine.

Old Book Terms.

The words folio, quarto, octavo, duodecimo and the like have almost if not quite lost their original meaning. At first they had reference only to the number of leaves into which the sheets used in making the books were folded. Thus if these sheets were folded once so as to form two leaves or four pages the book was called a folio; if the sheets were folded twice so as to form four leaves the book was called a quarto; if they were folded four times so as to form eight leaves the book was called an octavo, and so on.

Penitence.

"I suppose you're sorry now?" asked the prison visitor, according to the Philadelphia Ledger.

The young man who had stolen $17,000 and spent it in sixteen weeks sighed through the bars. "Oh, yes," he answered. "I tried to cut too much of a spurge. The money ought to have lasted me a week longer."

Friend—Why do you encourage these woman's suffrage meetings? Surely you don't approve of them. Husband—Approve? With all my heart! I can come home as late as I like now without finding my wife at home to ask questions.—Fleegende Blatter.

No Chance.

"I think it's wrong for a married man to gamble." "It's worse than wrong. It's idiotic. His wife gives him fits if he loses and condemns the proceeds if he wins."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The blessedness or misery of old age is often but the extract of our past life.—De Maistre.

Mothers Part in the Childs Education.

His mother, who from the first co-operated loyally with her husband in this unique educational experiment, sought successfully to cultivate the boy's imaginative side. While his father was infusing into him the scientific spirit, she was making him acquainted with the delights of "Alice in Wonderland," "Mother Goose" and other tales and rhymes of childhood. He listened to them, he read them for himself with all the intense eagerness of the ordinary child, and he remembered and interpreted them with rare facility and with a wealth of original detail. Before he was three he had memorized many of the simpler verses, and as he grew older he developed a pronounced talent for elocution.

Thus, by the time he had reached the age of 6, when it was decided to send him to school, William James Sidis was mentally far in advance of other children to his years. Nor did his health appear to have been impaired in the slightest by the process of intellectual discipline to which he had been subjected. Physically he was as he is to-day—a robust, sturdy lad, abounding in energy, fond of games, ever ready for play. There was absolutely nothing in his appearance to indicate that he differed in any way from the average boy of 6. Appreciating this, Mrs. Sidis, when she entered him at the nearest grammar school, thought she would say nothing about the preliminary home education the boy had received. She merely answered the usual questions about his age, place of residence, etc., and then left him at the disposal of the school authorities, who informed her that he would be placed in the first grade.—From Success.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Will Continue Buiness Depression

The Wilson Tariff wiped out the wool industry, and during the twelve years under the Dingley Tariff the fine wool flocks have increased until we are producing half of our supply. In a few years we will catch up what was lost, and if the Tariff on low grades were increased there would be more wool a cheaper mutton.

When the Wilson Tariff put an end to sheep farming, the mutton was cheapened for a time, so was wool; but the increased demand put prices up where they were and we neither had revenge nor employment for farmers or mill hands.

The railroads lose profitable freight by checking wool raising, and railroad hands lose their jobs. Tailors as well as the mill hands lose work, grocers and general stores lose trade and machinists sell no wool machinery. The more the Tariff is examined, the more the interdependence of various trades appears, and this wool Tariff is one of the simplest in the list. It will continue the business depression to monkey with the Tariff.—Jersey City Journal.

In Memory Of Little Marie Cox.

Marie, thou wast mild and lovely,
Gentle as the summer breeze;
Pleasant as the air of evening
Listen, it floats among the trees.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in the grave so low;
Thou no more wilt join our number
Thou no more our songs shall know.

Dearest Marie, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that hath bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.

Yet again we hope to meet thee
When the day of Heaven is fled,
Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

$3.75 Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker and a complete assortment of MOTHER'S CEREALS - all for $2.84

The Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker actually cooks without fuel. It solves the servant problem, the fuel problem and the delayed dinner problem. It saves 80% of your present coal or gas bills, and 90% of your present kitchen worries. When you own a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker, you simply place your oatmeal (or anything else that you want to prepare) on the stove, bring it to a boiling point, remove, place in Fireless Cooker, put the pad in position, tug the draw-string, and go to bed. While you're sleeping, the food will keep cooking itself. Nothing can boil over or burn or spoil. During the day you can start soup or joints or vegetables, place them in the Cooker, visit your neighbor, go to the matinee, or shop, without any thought of a hot, stuffy kitchen range.

Now, there is only one way that you can get a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker, unless you want to go to a store and pay $3.75 for it, and that is by being a user of Mother's Cereals, the best cereals, prepared in the largest mills, and sold everywhere by the best dealers in every town.

In every package we place a coupon, and when you have 125 coupons we'll send you the $3.75 Fireless Cooker for nothing. If you want a Fireless Cooker in a hurry, you can either buy ten packages of MOTHER'S OATS or any other Mother's Cereals, and get the Cooker immediately by paying $1.15 in cash or upon the following basis:

50 coupons and $.75 cash
35 coupons and .50 cash
25 coupons and 1.00 cash
15 coupons and 1.10 cash
10 coupons and 1.15 cash

But the best way of all is to go to your grocer and ask him to supply you with which contains a complete assortment of different delicious cereals for every palate and for every meal. Not only is it an advantage to buy your staple cereals in sufficient quantity at attractive prices (just as it's cheaper to buy flour by the barrel or butter by the crock) but in every Mother's Kit there is in addition to the saving of quite a considerable sum of money, a special Fireless Cooker Certificate, equal to eighteen coupons, which, when added to the coupons from the packages in the kit, enables you to secure a Cooker by merely adding 89 cents. A Mother's Kit consists of eighteen assorted packages of Mothers Cereals, packed in sanitary sealed packages, in which they are guaranteed to keep in perfect condition indefinitely.

8 packages of Mother's Oats, standard size
2 packages of Mother's Yellow Corn Meal
1 package of Mother's White Corn Meal
1 package of Mother's Wheat Hearts
1 package of Mother's Corn Flakes (Toasted)
1 package of Mother's Old-Fashioned Steel Cut Oatmeal
2 packages of Mother's Granulated Hominy
2 packages of Mother's Coarse Pearl Hominy

This Kit can be purchased at your grocer's by simply paying $1.95 (a little more, at distant points).

The grocer himself will either redeem your coupons and deliver the $3.75 Fireless Cooker, or, if you so desire, send the coupons and 89c directly to us and we will ship the cooker to you, express collect.

Protection a Cardinal Principle.

Protection is a cardinal principle of the Republican party, and the man who does not subscribe to this without reservation and with his whole heart is not the genuine article. He may have been vaccinated for a Republican, but it didn't take good. It is amusing to see some Republican editors pleading frantically for a "downward revision" of the Tariff to save the party. In the language of another, we say to these weak-kneed sisters "Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord." To our mind there is no cause for alarm. The sure and steadfast grip that the real friends of Protection have on the situation at Washington is very reassuring to us. And it must be to the whole country the way prices for labor and the price for the products of the farm are keeping up. The steady increase in bank deposits would indicate that the country is still prospering under a high Protective Tariff, as the Free-Trader is wont to refer to the Dingley law. There seems to be no alarm in business circles over Tariff matters, and that any good prices are the best evidences in the world that things are going right at Washington—Cleo (Oklahoma) Chifetain.

A. D. TAYLOR & SON,

BEAVER DAM, KY.

Peary and Cook.

Dr. Cook has begun reaping a harvest while Commander Peary is sending down word from the North that Cook never planted a seed. Peary's charges have placed him in a position where he will be sadly discredited if he fails to substantiate them. The unwisdom of using the shorter and uglier words was never more clearly shown than in the attitude in which Peary has now placed himself. Even his warmest friends and admirers must concede that, if he falls short of the fullest measure of proof of the serious charge he has made against Cook, he will be so badly discredited that, even from the sordid money point of view in the case, his prospects will be materially reduced. He has gone so far beyond the prima facie stage, in the force of his characterizations, that he will be unable to suspend public judgment by any mere juggles of words or of facts. He will have to make good.

Somebody said the other day that the North Pole can not be capitalized. But Peary and Cook have both capitalized it, in advance arrangements with publishers for a publication of what can be written about it. The doctor is beginning to reap his harvest before Peary gets back, but Peary, even before reaching the land of publishers and printing presses, has been making money out of his venture. At the bottom of the controversy may be found, if bottom ever is found, a sordid ambition instead of one to advance the ends of science and add to the world's knowledge of the forces and methods of nature. Nobody has doubted the good faith of Peary, but his often challenge of the good faith of Cook, in the language in which he has couched it, will none the less make him the loser of both money and glory unless he is coming back prepared to back up the sweeping charge he has made with proof which will leave no doubt of its truth.

There was no reason why Peary, if armed with proofs of Cook's want of integrity, should have sent advance bulletins concerning the fact. He could have waited until, confronted with his rival, he could have offered them, and they should have been offered then in that calmness and composure which is the only mental attitude the public will tolerate in a matter of this kind. If offered in such a way, even though inconclusive, they could not have reacted upon Peary and his prospects. It is the fact that he has assailed his rival in an unfair way which makes it imperative upon him to prove what he says or suffer the consequences in loss of public interest in him, his work or his story. Mere expletive never has been popular in controversies involving matters of seriousness or moment. It never will be. A man who is known to have been as far north as the North Pole is expected to keep at least as cool as a gentleman can easily keep in these latitudes. The fact that Peary got hot before he escaped from the Arctic circle will militate against him, unless he has the evidence to show such a duplicity and a falsehood in others as always should make an honest man hot in any climate. —Globe Democrat.

Notice For School Election.

Orders Ohio County Court, Regular Term, 1st day, 7th day of June, 1909, Hon. W. B. Taylor, J. O. C. C., Presiding.

J. W. Reynolds, et al., for Petition & Judgment. Graded Common School election, Pleasant Ridge, Ky.

Petition to County Judge for a Graded Common School.

Pleasant Ridge, Ky., April 1, 1909.

To Hon. W. W. Owen, Judge of the County Court of Daviess County, Ky. Sir:—We, the undersigned petitioners, being legal voters and taxpayers in the bounds hereinafter set forth, including parts of both Daviess and Ohio counties, respectively petition that you order an election to take the sense of the legal white voters as to whether a Graded Common School shall be established and maintained, by levy and collection for that purpose, of a tax of twenty-five cents on each one hundred dollars worth of property in said district, owned by white persons and by corporations, a poll tax of one dollar on each white inhabitant therein over twenty-one years old, under Sections 100 and following of the Common School Law and 4454 and following of the Kentucky Statutes the said district to be bounded as follows, viz:

Beginning at and including J. A. Johnson's farm near Ohio county line; thence to and including Sam Stone's farm; thence to and including J. P. Davis' farm; thence to and including French Bros. farm; thence to and including Ed Anderson's farm; thence to and including Ira Bryant's farm; thence to and including J. C. Ben-farm; thence to and including J. S. Hill's farm; thence up Green Briar creek to Thomas Richardson's farm; thence South-East to the Chase farm, including it; thence to and including W. R. Boyd's farm; thence to and including J. Puckett's farm; thence to and including Larry Thorp's farm; thence to and including J. C. Bennett's farm; thence to and including W. L. Jarnagin's farm; thence to and including Mollie Murray's farm; thence to and including Wm. Morgan's farm; thence to Jas. Northern, including him; thence to G. W. Jewell's farm a part of the Thos. Bell farm, including it; thence to and including Louis French's farm; thence to and including G. W. Jewell's home farm; thence to the B. N. Graves farm, including it; thence to and including M. T. Westerfield's farm; thence to and including A. Hunt's farm; thence to and including Jos. C. Westerfield's farm; thence to the beginning.

Approved by the County Superintendents and Trustees.

The foregoing proposition, as contained in the above petition to establish a Graded Common School District, is hereby approved.

R. L. ALLEN, County Supt. for Daviess County, Ky.

JAMES M. DEWEESSE, County Supt. for Ohio County, Ky.

We, the undersigned, being legal trustees of such Common School Districts as are indicated below, which or parts of which are included within the proposed Graded Common School District, do hereby approve the foregoing petition and the proposition therein set forth.

J. W. REYNOLDS, Trustee District No. 10, Div. 5.

We, further represent, that the foregoing boundary embraces Common School District No. 10, Div. 5, and parts of Nos. — and this petition has the approval of a majority of the Trustees of each of said districts and also of the County Superintendent of Schools.

We designated a certain tract or parcel of land situated in the town of Pleasant Ridge, County of Daviess, and State of Kentucky, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake in the center of the Owensboro and Hartford road and corner with Dr. J. C. Hoover and Mark Thorp's lines; thence South to Stevens' line nine poles; thence along Stevens' line to the center of the Owensboro and Hartford road eleven poles and 10½ feet; thence with the Owensboro and Hartford road to the beginning, containing one-half acre, more or less, the deed to the same being recorded in Deed Book 56, page 318, in the Daviess County Clerk's office, of date, June 15, 1892, as the site of the building for the proposed Graded Common School, and certify that said site is not more than two and one-half miles from any portion of the boundary of the prepared district.

We respectfully subscribe ourselves, your petitioners as set out above, this 1st day of April, 1909.

J. W. Reynolds, and 17 others.

It appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that the foregoing petition was regularly filed at the April, 1909, term of this, the Ohio County Court, and the same having lain over for more than one month for exceptions, and none having been filed, or noted thereto, and the Court being sufficiently advised, it is ordered and adjudged by the Court, that the said petition be, and it is hereby granted and approved as filed, and that an election be held for the purpose therein mentioned, at the same time and place as designated by order of judgment of the Daviess County Court, viz: at the school house in Pleasant Ridge, Daviess County, Ky., on the 1th day of Oct. 1909.

It is further ordered and adjudged by the Court, that said election be held and conducted as per orders and judgment of the Daviess County Court and that nothing herein shall conflict with the said judgment of the said Daviess County Court, and that, in so far as may be lawful, the judgment of the said Daviess County Court shall be the judgment of this Court.

Ordered that this action be continued for report of election, as prescribed by law.

Pursuant to the above order I will cause a poll to be opened at the school house in Pleasant Ridge, Daviess County, Ky., for the purpose above set out October 16, 1909.

A census job will rescue many a man from politics.

President Taft seems to be entered for all of the great events of the grand circuit.

It looks as if the Bryan-Bailey debate would be fought out at long distance after all.

There is now nothing left for Harry Thaw but to cultivate the society of his fellow lunatics.

The Republican officials at Frankfort are just now getting the offices which they ran for two years ago.

William R. Hearst positively refuses re-election as Mayor of New York. His present term has not been a very great success.

Those airship fellows do not waste any great amount of time squabbling among themselves. So different from our Arctic Explorers.

Beef prices "soon to soar", says a headline in a daily paper. According to our best information they have been soaring for sometime.

Tom Johnson seems to be unable to shake off the habit of running for Mayor of Cleveland, Ohio. No doubt the people will assist Tom this time.

Commander Peary may prove himself the Columbus of the twentieth Century, but at present he greatly resembles the Admiral Sampson of recent history.

An exchange says it is not so much a question of whether there is glory enough for two, as between Peary and Cook, but whether or not there is story enough for two.

The Republican nominees in Ohio County this year are men of known ability and of the highest integrity and as yet no plausible excuse has been given for the defeat of any of them.

Reviewing the record of the first six months of the Taft administration Mr. Bryan will doubtless have to make the reluctant admission that he himself could not have run things much better.

The Republicans are making a close precinct organization in Ohio county, and in this work they should be assisted by all members of the party. The way to win a victory is to get the vote to the polls.

The death of Governor Johnson leaves Marshall and Harmon the only Democratic Governors in Republican states, and they will have to contend with each other for the honor of being the sacrificial lamb for the next presidential election.

One way to settle the North Pole squabble will be to keep an accurate tab on the number of babies which are named for Cook and Peary within the next twelve months. We might give the honors to the one receiving the greatest attention in this line.

"The Tobacco Tiller" by Miss Sarah Belle Hackley is a new book just out, which deals with the scenes connected about an industry which is of more than vital interest to the people of Kentucky. Miss Hackley herself has lived much in the south and knows her people and their ways. Its characters are original and the circumstances of the plot touch the heart many times. "The Tobacco Tiller" is a book of absorbing interest.

Unless all indications fail, the Republicans are reasonably certain to retain control of Kentucky for another four years after the expiration of the present state administration. Our Democratic friends are split wide open as between the Beckham forces on one side and the Waterson-Whalen crowd upon the other and if the Republicans maintain their composure and give a good account of their stewardship, the people will retain them in preference to either one of the Democratic factions.

Mrs. W. P. Hunley, died last Tuesday and was buried at Hopewell, Wednesday. Funeral services being conducted by Rev. R. D. Bennett. Mrs. Hunley was a daughter of Mr. Willis Rowe, of Centertown and was a woman of splendid character and merit. For a number of years she taught in the public schools of Ohio county; before her marriage.

The Louisville Conference of the M. E. church South met in Henderson, Wednesday and will continue until Monday. Henderson is filled with preachers, laymen and visitors to the conference and much interest is being ing taken in the work of the body. It is not thought that a great many changes will be made among the ministers this year. Rev. Elgin will no doubt return to Hartford where he is much loved by his people and where he has given efficient labor for two years. It is likely that the work will be divided however, with a resident minister at Beaver Dam; that place and Liberty comprising an appointment, while Hartford, Goshoh and Mt. Herman will likely become a separate work.

Theatrical Talent.

The people of McHenry and vicinity were highly entertained by a local Theatrical Troupe in the presentation of a modern high class Melodrama in three acts entitled "Little Buckshot" at the McHenry Opera House on last Saturday evening.

Each member of the troupe acted their part as if they had been in the work all their lives, especially the leading stars. John Francis as "Little Buckshot" was hard to beat, and Joe Newland in his part as the "Mormon Saint" suited him all-right, he did his part like a veteran. Henry Davies made a good "Irishman" and every other member of the play did their part exceedingly well. Williams and Williams the noted comedians brought the house down with their witty song and jokes. The three little girls Misses Mitchell, Bashenheart and Reynolds looked very sweet and did their part well. The people were very much pleased with the home talent and claimed that it was the best play ever presented at the opera house. The house was crowded and the troupe is requested to repeat the performance in the near future.

One Present.

CURIOUS CONDITION AT BOTTOM OF WELL

Hot Rock Found Forty Feet Below Surface of the Erath.

The Owensboro Messenger says: The people of the Panther neighborhood are all excited over a phenomenal well on the farm of John Payne. Payne shot a charge of dynamite on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and since that time everyone who has seen the hole is wondering what it is. The digging had gone down about forty feet, and Mr. Payne had struck a strata of slate, and it is this slate which is intensely hot, and has remained that way since first discovered, causing great commotion.

People from miles around have been to the well and everyone has something different to say about it. Hundreds of people have visited the place, saying that they never saw anything like it in their lives. Several well diggers have visited it and are unable to account for the strange state of the earth in the well.

The small fragments of rock or slate that are gotten out of the well are so hot that they can't be touched with the hands and when placed in water, they cause the water to steam. At the top of the well a boiling sound is continually heard and this is what causes the timid most alarm. The most excitable fear that a volcanic region of the earth has been tapped. Others think it is only oil, which abounds in the region. The dynamite is thought to have opened some crevice in the earth from which the slate gets its heat.

PAID.

Mr. Fielden Johnson and family of Fordsville, are visiting in our neighborhood this week.

Mr. Billy Boyd and family of Center town, passed through our town enroute to Fordsville where he will assist his brothers, John and Rufus in business.

Our big rally at Palo school house the 25th was a success. Judge R. R. Wedding and Mr. David Moreland gave us very interesting talks. Hurrah for Equity.

Mr. W. L. White and family were the guests of Mr. Oldham Duke and family last Sunday.

Mr. C. Malden went to Central City Monday. Master Thomas Malden is on the sick list.

Mr. J. R. Burden and family visited Mrs. Jane Malden last Sunday.

The cool weather is very hard on late corn in this locality.

Messrs. J. H. Dodson and H. O. Duke were in Dundee Sunday.

Mr. Sandy Smith and family, of Concord, were the guests of Mr. Jno. Willis and family last Sunday.

Success to the Republican and its readers.

PROMPT JUSTICE.

The Magistrate Was Firm and Tried to Be Genial.

In the "History of Beverly," Mass., the following anecdote is related of a good justice of the peace in the old colonial times. On a cold night in winter a traveler called at his house for lodging. The ready hospitality of the justice was about being displayed when the traveler unluckily uttered a word which his host considered profane.

Upon this he informed his guest that he was a magistrate, pointed out the nature of the offense and explained the necessity of its being expiated by sitting an hour in the stocks.

Remonstrance was unavailing, for custom at that time allowed the magistrate to convict and punish at once, and in this case he acted as accuser, witness, jury, judge and sheriff, all in one.

Cold as it was, our worthy justice, aided by his son, conducted the traveler to the place of punishment, an open place near the meeting house where the stocks were placed. Here the traveler was confined in the usual manner, the benevolent executor of the law remaining with him to beguile the time of its tedious by edifying conversation.

At the expiration of the hour he was reconducted to the house and hospitably entertained till the next morning, when the traveler departed with, let us hope, a determination to consider his words more carefully before giving them utterance in the hearing of a conscientious magistrate.

JAPAN'S PAGODAS.

They Are Built to Resist the Shock of an Earthquake.

A remarkable fact in Japan is that pagodas built hundreds of years ago embody the principle of the modern seismograph, which is to minimize the effect of earthquake motion by the combination of an inverted pendulum with an ordinary pendulum, or, in other words, by the union of a stable and an unstable structure to produce a neutral stability, which renders the whole building least sensible to earthquake shock.

In the hollow well of every five storied pagoda a heavy mass of timber is suspended freely, like an exaggerated tongue, from the top right to the ground, but not in contact with it, and at the shock of an earthquake this large pendulum slowly sways and the structure sways and then settles back safely upon its base.

This is also the principle followed in the construction of all bell towers throughout Japan, where the bell acts as pendulum, and the roof, supported by posts, forms an inverted pendulum, as in the seismograph.

When an earthquake occurs a pagoda or a bell tower may be rotated or displaced, but it cannot be overturned as a whole.—Wide World Magazine.

Peeling a Snake.

It is difficult to skin a dead snake, and the skin is often spoiled in the course of the operation, while, on the other hand, it is a simple matter to skin a live snake, and the skin thus gained is worth much more. Dead snakes bring from 2 to 5 cents, according to their size, and live ones from 25 cents to $1. One of the largest snake skin companies has factories in Sumatra. When a snake is received from a hunter it is seized adroitly by an operator, one hand squeezing the neck and the other holding the tail. It is then attached by the neck to the trunk of a palm tree, an assistant holding it by the tail. With the point of a knife the operator cuts the skin just below the head and, pulling with all his strength, peels it from the writhing reptile in the same way that a woman peels a pair of gloves from her hand.—Popular Mechanics.

Two Points of View.

"Good morning, Jones?"
"Good morning, Brown! Any news today?"
"Why, yes. You know my brother who works at the bank? Well, he went to business the other day and found $1,000 on the counter. And what do you think he did? Stole the money and tripped off to Canada. And when the news reached my father it broke the old man's heart."

"That's funny! You know, my brother works at a bank, too, and when he went to business the other morning he found $1,000. And what do you think he did?"
"What—stole it?"
"No; took it straight to the manager's office. And when the news reached my father, do you know, it broke the old man's heart!"—London Telegraph.

Streams of Light.

One night we were in a dense crowd watching a parade when during one of those unaccountable lulls which so often occur in large crowds a little fellow who was perched high up on his father's shoulder shouted: "Oh, papa, you ought to see! Way in the street they are just squirting light all over the people!"—Delineator.

Successful Publicity.

The king of successful advertisers was given an interview.
"My methods are very simple," he said. "I learned them from watching a girl trying to keep her engagement a secret."—Newark News.

Encouragement.

Artist—Yes, I keep pegging away. Sometimes I get discouraged and say to myself, "What's the use?" Friend—Don't give up, old man. You can't do worse than you've done, you know.—Exchange.

Education is a capital to a poor man and an interest to a rich man.—Horace Mann.

NOISES IN VENICE.

The Way They Crash Upon the Normal Quiet of the City.

With all the water traffic and with not a horse or a cab or a wagon to wake the echoes, the utter silence of Venice is the thing that first impresses the traveler. Yet because there is no undertone of city noises in which occasional noises may merge the Grand canal at Venice seems to the sleeper at night the noisiest place in the world. For every little noise crashes into one's sleep, and the most wakeful hours of our six weeks in Italy were spent on the Grand canal in Venice. The bells of the churches probably do not ring louder nor more frequently than they ring in other cities, yet because Venice is so still these bells clang through the night like the alarm of a continuous and ever increasing fire. The bawl of a love-lorn human calf carrying home three drinks and a throbbing heart, a noise that may be heard by the attentive listener any place on earth after 11 o'clock, in Venice becomes insistent and demoralizing. The common quarrel in the street enters the bedroom at night with nerve racking distinctness, and the morning song of the market gardener bringing his wares to town in his silent boat smites the sleeper's ears like a call to arms. If Macbeth really did murder sleep, the night was done in Venice.

There are, of course, considerable acres in Venice—where the streets are paved and where commerce goes on in the ordinary way, except that there are no horses or carriages in the narrow ways.—William Allen White in Emporia Gazette.

QUEER BURIALS.

Uncouth Methods of the Nomads of Queensland.

Of all the modes of burial ever practiced by creatures in the shape of human beings the method of the Queensland nomads is certainly the most uncouth. After drying the corpse in the sun and knocking out its teeth for keepsakes they deposit it on a framework of rough poles and bury it under a few armfuls of rushes and old kangaroo skins, leaving the bush wolves to sing its requiem.

No member of the dead man's tribe will settle within a mile of his grave for fear of being haunted by the spooks making the burial place their midnight rendezvous. The metaphysical opinions of the Australian aborigines prove indeed that savages can be afflicted with an abundance of supernaturalism without betraying a trace of anything deserving the name of religious sentiment.

They believe in evil spirits whistling in the blasts of the storm wind and try to exorcise them by spitting in the direction of the sky, but for the conceptions of the Deity, of future existence, of repentance, atonement and conscience their language has not even a definite word. From somewhere in the land of their forefathers—eastern Asia perhaps—they have imported a notion faintly resembling the Buddhist doctrine of metempsychosis and believe that animals may be reborn as men and men as human beings of a superior rank.—London Answers.

Not So Bad as It Sounded.

In a downtown cafe two old college friends met by chance. They had not met before in several years and were properly delighted. In the course of conversation one, who had been long absent from town, bethought him of a mutual friend.

"Tell me," said he, "how I can reach Jim. I'd like to look him up tonight."

"My boy," said the other, "if you want to reach Jim you'll have to telephone to —, an undertaker on Sixth avenue."

"What! You shock me. Jim dead? I—I am sorry indeed to hear it."

"Dead? Who said he was dead. He's a friend of the undertaker and has rooms near by. He has no telephone, but has an arrangement for using the undertaker's, as the place is open at all hours. Just telephone the undertaker, and the message will be carried around to Jim."—New York Globe.

Taps Over a Soldier's Grave.

The custom of sounding taps over a soldier's grave originated with the late Captain John C. Tidball, U. S. A. On the retirement from the peninsula in August, 1862, Horse Battery A, Second artillery, was serving with the rear guard, and on reaching Yorktown one of the cannoneers died and was buried there. Not wishing to stir up the enemy by firing three rounds from the battery guns, as was customary, Captain Tidball substituted the sounding of taps, lights out, which impressed ceremony has since been observed at all military funerals at the close of the services.—Argonaut.

Barring the Party.

"Pray, Mr. Canning," said a lady to the English statesman, "why have they made the space in the iron gates at Spring gardens so narrow?"

"Oh, ma'am," replied Canning, with the delightful absurdity for which he was famous, "because such very fat people used to go through."

A Social Botanist.

Guest—He seems a very nice young man. What's his profession? Hostess—He's a social botanist. Guest—And what is that, pray? Hostess—Oh, we invite him especially to give attention to our wallflowers.—Boston Transcript.

The Moisture.

"Does your wife cry when she gets angry?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Meekton. "It isn't the heat of her temper that distresses me so much as the humidity."—Washington Star.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

A CULINARY MASTERPIECE.

When You Go to Paris Don't Turn Up Your Nose at Mussels.

You will find in Paris a small restaurant just inside the street entrance presided over by a waiter who has apparently been forty years of age for the last twenty years. He has a friendly, alert air, and anything in the world that you want he will promptly provide.

You will naturally order some sort of potage or something that your fancy suggests; but, whatever else you do, be sure to call for mussels. I can see you turning up your nose at this. In America you eat mussels except at rare times—perhaps some pickled mussels? They are with us in the same category as tripe.

But behold the genius of the French! When the waiter brings in an enormous silver bowl with a domelike silver cover and when he removes the cover, then you forget everything in the world except the delicious savory smell of the steam which rises from the myriad shells that open lovingly for you to extract from them the dainty sea flavored mussel that lurks within.

Mussel, did I say? No; these are not the ordinary mussels that Americans know. French gastronomic genius has transformed them into moules mariniere. In some deftly magical way the French chef has imparted a delicious suggestion to the mussels, just that indefinable, evanescent memory of garlic-garlic which in the hands of the ordinary cook is an offensive and deadly weapon, but which in the hands of a cook of high degree—an artist in fact—is a means for achieving some of the supreme triumphs of his art.

After the mussels you will have anything you care for—dainty slices of galantine or sliced capon nestling amid watercresses and then perhaps some peaches in a little basket where the fruit is in folded in leaves from its own tree and ripened to precisely the right turn on some ancient wall in the sunshine of an old French garden, then perhaps some pulled bread and a bit of Camembert and a Cafe Mazagran in a long glass. No one remembers now the battle that gave its name to this particular preparation of coffee, which shows that men may come and empires may fall and armies may be dashed into fragments upon the battlefield, but the genius of cookery remains triumphant and its achievements are never lost.—Bookman.

ENGLISH MONARCHS.

Death Often Unkind In the Manner of Their Taking Off.

Of the monarchs who have reigned over England since the days of the Norman conquest nearly one-quarter of the number have met violent deaths. William I. was killed by a fall from his horse, William II. was shot while hunting, whether by accident or design is still one of the unsolved problems of history; Richard I. was killed by a shaft from a crossbow while besieging the city of Chalus, in France; Richard II. was murdered in Pontefract castle, Edward II. was murdered in Berkeley castle and Edward V. in the Tower of London, Richard III. was killed on the battlefield of Bosworth, and Charles I. had his head cut off in London.

Elizabeth's death was hastened by remorse that she had ordered the execution of Essex, and her sister Mary sickened and died soon after the loss of Calais, declaring that the name of that city would be found after death written on her heart. The death of Edward III's son, the Black Prince, caused the aged monarch to die of grief. So, after the loss of his son in the White Ship, Henry I. was never seen to smile again and lived only a short time. Henry VI. and George III. were insane during the latter years of their reigns and finally died from what in these days would be called paresis. Charles II., Henry VIII., Edward IV. and George IV. hastened their deaths by the lives they lived. Only two monarchs died of that great national scourge, consumption. They were Edward VI. and Henry VII. Queen Anne's death was due as much as anything else to overfeeding. Only two monarchs, Henry VI. and George III., died after long illnesses.—London Tatler.

What Would He Do With It?

A farmer owned a dog—a very good, high bred and thoroughly trained dog—that every morning for three years chased a railway train that ran past the farm. The farmer and his wife were watching the persistent but vain pursuit one warm morning. "I wonder," the wife said, "what makes that foolish dog chase the train so persistently." "Never thought about that," replied the farmer, "but I've often wondered what he would do if he caught it."

What He Wanted.

Professional Guide (to palace car porter)—I have an English lord in charge, and I want him to get a good impression of the comforts of travel in this country. Here's $5. Porter—Yes, sah. Do you want me to gib him extra attention, sah? Guide—Great Scott, no! I want you to keep away from him!—New York Weekly.

Tommy Atkins on the Range.

Subaltern—What on earth are you fellows doing? There hasn't been a hit signaled for the last half hour. Private—I think we must 'ave shot the marker, sir!—London Punch.

Broadening.

Bond—Don't you realize that marriage broadens a man? Benedict—Oh, yes; I suppose it can be put that way, but "fattens" is the word I've always used.—London Express.

Little Alma Moxley Dead.

How sad when the angel of death visited the home of C. S. Moxley, near Trisler, on the evening of the 16th, and claimed the spirit of little Alma, the beautiful little daughter of James Cicero and Maudie Lee Moxley. She was one year, seven months and twenty-nine days old. She was sick only two days, her death having been caused from that dreaded disease, membranous croup and diphtheria, which has proved fatal to so many children in this vicinity within the past six weeks. The remains were laid to rest in the Midkiff cemetery beside her mother, Mrs. Maudie Lee (Allen) Moxley, whose death occurred May 9th, 1909, at her home in the Fairview neighborhood, after a lingering illness of consumption.

Alma was a beautiful and intelligent child and will be sadly missed by her many friends at Trisler and Fairview at which places she was best known.

To the sad parents we extend our deepest sympathy for we know not why this little flower, the pride of their heart, was taken and we can did them to look to God, whose work is wise. W. E. H.

QUICK'S LIVER & BLOOD PILLS
Will cleanse your liver and purify your blood and make you feel like a new man.

In Memory.

Of my dear brother, Jesse Hall, who departed this life August 15th, 1908. Jesse is dead, the battle is over, Death has claimed its noble prize. We must part from those so cherished. Close forever those loving eyes.

Day by day our sad hearts ache, We realize this noble life has ebbed away.

Yet all were hoping, watching, praying that with loved ones he might stay.

Mother, brothers he has left us, Folded now are the hands you've clasped so often; Grieve not, dear ones, But let him rest.

Mother, down life's pathway You shall reach that happy land Some bright day, perhaps to-morrow, You shall grasp him by the hand. One more time the chain is broken, One more link has been removed, One more child now has left us, One more son so fondly loved. But earthly griefs are forgotten, When we meet around the throne, And shall greet our sainted brother, Jesse, dearest, in that home.

When we have crossed the river and are free from toil and care, One by one we know he'll greet us, In that land so bright and fair, Where so fondly he is waiting, watching, waiting for us there.

Oh! the sweet reunion Of the loved ones gone before, Anchored safely, now in Heaven, Where deaths and partings are no more.

—Written by his only sister, Mollie.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

For The Farmers' Wife.

Pears must be cooked until tender before sugar is added, and one or two pieces of sugar root gives a very pleasant flavor.

Always cook fruit rapidly and in small quantities if wanted especially fine, either for canning or immediate use.

Glass jars with tops should be well sterilized before using by putting into cold water and bringing to a boil. Better to have new rubbers every season.

Apple sauce is much more savory if apples are sweetened before beginning to cook. They should always be thoroughly cooked.

Tomatoes canned in glass sometimes become insipid, but if salted and peppered before canning and well wrapped in paper to exclude the light they will keep fresh and sweet.

If tin cans are used for tomatoes, salt and pepper should never be put in before canning, because of the action of the salt upon the tin and great care should be observed in having the cans bright and new and perfectly free from rust.

Peaches should always be carefully washed before eating, as the fuzz on the skin is said to cause sore throat, and they are much more easily and comfortably handled if washed before peeling for canning or preserving.

I'd Rather Die Doctor

Than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham, of Princeville, Ill., "but you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't," said all doctors. He Didn't Get Away.

Considerable merriment was caused in Hartford last Friday morning when Will Duke, who is confined in jail here under a work sentence for having concealed a deadly weapon about his person, was brought out to be put to his task. Duke came down from his cell barefooted, and this scheme was quickly made plain, for scarcely had he emerged from the jail door than he made a break for liberty at rabbit speed. However, Oscar Fleener, son of the jailer, overhauled him just as he turned the court house square. It was a short but a hot race. A crowd soon gathered to see how Bill was going to take matters. He swore he wasn't going to work a stroke, and some altercation followed. He was finally bodily dumped into a wagon, after being shackled, and hauled to the point of labor, about a mile east of town.

Words to Freeze The Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Georg E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C. by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for Coughs and Colds, is the safest, surest cure of desperate lung diseases on earth. 5c and $1.00 at all druggists. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free. m

Advantages Of A Short Girl

not feel the drawbacks of early inexperience. The tall girl may be more imposing in appearance, more of a power at social functions, but the short girl does deadlier execution among men. From the first day they are at ease with her which means a great deal to the average man; in her presence he does not feel the drawbacks of early inexperience. She can coax and pout, and flounce into pretty little passions with greater grace than a "daughter of the gods"; she needs a protecting arm in a crowd, and she does not take up so much room in a railway car, or dwarf her partners in the ballroom or while out for a walk.

There never yet was a little woman who could not flirt more furiously than a tall one and yet escape unfavorable notice. Her scratches all seem to be given in play. It is of course by comparison that everything is thus or thus, and so it is only when judged by the standard of some exceptionally tall sister that a short woman will permit herself to be so described. She will always indignantly disclaim a brevity of inches under any circumstances, though no woman ever yet objected to the epithet "little woman" as a term of affection.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured. By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

WILL SOON BE COMPLETED

M. H. and E. Railroad Soon To Be Open.

Almost Continuous Line From Lou isville to Saint Louis.

The residents of Madisonville will have an opportunity to see the first train over the M. H. & E. railroad on October 10, when the new road will be opened for traffic. The trains will enter Madisonville on that date according to the announcement of the management, and the road opened to the public. Speculation has been rife as to what time trains would be running into the city, but this assurance from the promoters fixes a definite date for the opening of the new line. The citizens will turn out in full force to witness the train's entrance into the city and hundreds from points along the railroad and elsewhere will be on hand to celebrate with the railroad officials and inhabitants as the train comes into Madisonville, says the Madisonville Hustler.

Steel has been laid to Pond river and work is now being done on the bridge. The piers are all on the bridge and steel is being laid on the structure. Only eight miles more of steel remains to be laid before the road is completed to this place and it is a certainty that the first train will be operated into this city between October 5 and 10, the latter date being the most likely.

Plans have been made for a handsome two-story passenger station between the west "Y" and the two main lines of the M. H. & E. and L. & N. The building will be modern in every respect and amply able to accommodate the public.

A lake covering seventy-five acres will be made in the grove, now the property of W. A. Nisbet, running to the M. H. & E., on one side and the main line of the L. & N. railroad on the other. This will insure a sufficient water supply for the railroad company.

The revised line of the loop, as it is called, of the L. & N. railroad, which will be built from Morton's Gap to Madisonville around Earlington, will tap the main line of the L. & N. on the top of the hill just north of the block office and will cross the M. H. & E. about five hundred yards from where the main line of the L. & N. now crosses the new road. Twenty-five acres of land have already been secured from Frank Ramsey on which the yards and round-house will be built and other buildings of the company are to be erected there. Work will commence on these at an early date.

When the M. H. & E. is built into Madisonville a connecting link of about twelve miles is the only thing needed to connect Morganfield with Shawneetown, Ill., to give this city a direct line from Louisville to St. Louis.

The next two years will see many important changes made in North Madisonville and unusual activity will be witnessed along the line, especially in this section. The M. H. & E. will open a large coal field and a vast territory of farming and timber land adjacent to Madisonville, which will result in the population of the city being greatly increased during this period. In addition to this, an influx of people will follow who will be given employment by the new railroad and make their homes here.

Mr. Ellen Chambers and Miss Hattie Stewart of Chambers are visiting relatives here.
MANDA.
It seems that Manda is getting a little behind in the way of news, but not in the way of interest, for it is the liveliest place in Ohio County in the way of mischievous boys and good looking girls, and a reasonable amount of intellect.
School at this place is progressing nicely, with Mr. Onis Gaer teacher. Nearly everybody is done cutting tobacco and wheat sowing is on hand.
Messrs. Z. T. Iler, J. E. Leach, Roy Raines, J. W. Taylor and Lindley Lead went to Oak Grove last Saturday to the District meeting of the A. S. of E.
Mr. S. Sanderfur and wife of McHenry, visited W. F. Sanderfur last Saturday.
Mr. V. S. Rafferty and J. O. Stewart went to Horton Saturday on business.
Mr. C. J. Amos went to Cromwell yesterday.
Messrs. George Leach and George Rafferty went to work for Mr. S. C. Clark near Rob Roy, cutting timber.
Mr. Onis Greer visited his parents near Whitesville Saturday returning Sunday.
Here is to the whole Republican ticket.
